Review of clerkships with normative and criterion grading systems

Principal Investigator: David C. Schilling, MD
Co-investigators/collaborators: William Adams, MA

This project has looked at the past 5 years of grading data so as to review the various grading systems of the required 3rd year clerkships. Through this review as well as by comparing and contrasting those clerkships that use a normative system with each other (or by comparing and contrasting those clerkships that use a criterion based system with each other), the goal is to look for best practices to recommend and/or practices to avoid for each type of grading system.
